Rosh Chodesh Tammuz, 5774

It seems clear to me that basic hishtadlus on the part of the average citizen in the areas of security and in bringing the ideas of emunah and bitachon to the bulk of the Jewish people living here in Eretz Yisrael would be to do whatever is within one's power to make Moshe Feiglin and his Manhigut Yehudit faction more and more powerful within the Likud.

(Obviously I do not go along with or agree with everything Moshe Feiglin does or says or writes--but that is hardly the point.)

Joining the Likud for this purpose is at the very least a very positive thing to do. This does not require a person in a general election to vote any particular way or for any particular candidate or party other than the one he or she wants to--thus it should be a no-brainer.
